

INVITATION

Donor Events at the FAO's 2nd International Agroecology Symposium

Agroecology is a growing field of interest for philanthropic, bilateral, multilateral and corporate donors focused on strengthening food systems that are both good for people and the planet. Donors from across the globe are funding scientific research, practice, advocacy, communications, and peer-to-peer learning, among other agroecology amplification strategies.

The FAO's 2nd International Agroecology Symposium in Rome, 3 - 5 April 2018, marks a significant opportunity for actors from across sectors to discuss the transition to agroecology as a core solution to a future of food that is renewable, resilient, diverse, equitable, healthy, and interconnected.

To support an effective and efficient transition towards agroecology, the AgroEcology Fund, McKnight Foundation, and the Global Alliance for the Future of Food are convening donors at two complementary events, where we will explore opportunities to coordinate efforts, to identify shared principles, and to collaborate.

DONOR DINNER

Wednesday 4 April 2018

7:30 pm - 10:00 pm

This dinner is a donor only event. Please RSVP by Friday 16 March 2018 with Zanele Sibanda at zanele@futureoffood.org

PUBLIC SIDE EVENT: STRATEGIC FUNDING - DONORS ACCELERATING TRANSITIONS TO AGROECOLOGICAL FOOD SYSTEMS

Thursday 5 April 2018

12:00 pm - 1:30 pm

Lunch will be provided.

FAO, Iraq Room

Viale delle Terme di Caracalla

00153 Rome, Italy

Lunch will be provided.

Please RSVP for the donor focused, open side event with Zanele Sibanda at zanele@futureoffood.org

The FAO's 2nd International Agroecology Symposium will be an opportune moment to cultivate and deepen donors' working relationships, and express donor support for agroecology. We hope you will join us for these events.

